His 4-H activities include: member of The Junior Leadership Club, 4-H camper, and camp counselor, representative to club congress, representative to leadership camp, attendant to royal court, recipient of state 4-H junior leadership award, representative of county at 4-H state tractor rodeo and of county and district in safety talk meet.

Philip will be a sophomore at Ohio State University where he is majoring in agricultural equipment. A graduate of Fairfield High School, he has been a 4-H member for nine years.

Patricia J. Denny is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Denny. Her 4-H activities include: Junior Leadership Club, participation in district selection days, representative of county at state fair in style review, member Junior Fair Board, counselor at junior camp, representative to 4-H club congress, attendant at Damascus homecoming and Goshen school cheerleader and majorette.

She graduated from Goshen High School and will be a freshman at Mount Union College this fall.

Floyd Lower, county extension agent, acted as master of ceremonies for the 4-H program. Miss agent, announced the king and queen. Mrs. Isaac Skeels described the gowns and activities of the members of the court, and Miss Julia Shank, assistant county Helene McGarry, 4-H assistant for the summer months, described the style review.

Leading the parade was the 4-H band under the direction of Karl Meinhardt, former Leetonia band director. The band was followed by the color guard, floats, 4-H clubs, wagons, trucks and some walking units, FFA groups, saddle horses and ponies.

Future Farmers of America presented awards for outstanding work during the year.

Presented the Awards

F. H. Bezdek of Rogers RD, secretary of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council, presented three awards in the Dr. Robert Dunlap health essay contest.

Winners were: First, Linda Lee Peron, 13, of West Local School, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Peron of Minerva RD 2; second, George Ruscoe, 15, New Waterford School, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ruscoe, New Waterford; and third, Linda Carlson, 14, United Local School, a daughter of Mr. Wilmer Carlson of Salem RD 3. The winners received $25, $15 and $5, respectively.

Fair, sunny weather heralded the start of contests and judging of exhibits and livestock this morning.

A "medium-sized" crowd gathered to view the tractor and auto rodeo, weighing of 4-H and Future Farmers of America steers and the 4-H dairy judging contest.

A parade at 7 this evening including floats, the royal court and 4-H and FFA livestock, followed by the Motor Olympics thrill show, will round out the first day of the fair.

Wednesday's program, calls for junior fair sheep, swine and poultry judging at 9 a. m.; light draft horse pulling contest, 3,000 pounds and under, at 9:30 a. m.; sheep and swine judging at 10 a. m., with the junior dairy showmanship contest scheduled for same time; 4-H and FFA steer judging at 1 p. m.; horse racing at 1:30 p. m.; beef showmanship contest at 3 p. m., followed by the livestock and machinery parade at 7 p. m.; the steer sale and variety show at 8 p. m.

Wednesday's speed program will include 2:22 trot, purse of $500; two year old and 25 pace, purse $400; 2:20 pace, purse $500; and free for all trot, purse $600.

V. B. Lemley, head of the speed program, said $100 will be added to the purse of any winner that breaks the track records set in 1939, pacing, 2:07½, and trotting, 2:06½.

Miss Linn reported 129 persons registered, with 30 persons failing to keep their appointments. Approximately 15 persons were rejected for physical reasons.

Unless the public is willing to donate more blood, the blood program in Salem will have to be abandoned, she added. To date the Salem Chapter is in arrears over 1,000 pints to the Cleveland Blood Center.

Canteen service was provided yesterday by the American Legion Auxiliary and the Youngstown Kitchen Booster Club.

The unit will make another visit here in October at the First Methodist Church.

Man Molests 2 Girls Near Fairgrounds

LISBON — Two 4-H club girls were accosted about 6:45 p. m. on Monday when they went into the woods in rear of 4-H building at the county fairgrounds to get some moss and fern leaves for their 4-H exhibit, according to Lisbon police.

The girls were chased by a man who, they said, was about 45 years old, of husky build, wore a white T-shirt, dark green trousers and a straw hat.

Village police, sheriff's deputies and the state patrol checked the woods and roads in the vicinity but were unable to locate anyone.

One of the girls was scratched when she was knocked down trying to get away from the man.

Vote Expected Wednesday or Thursday

UN O.K. of Mideast Plan Predicted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Supporters of a Western-backed Middle East peace plan predicted today the U.N. General Assembly would approve it despite opposition from some Arab and Asian nations.

The resolution introduced by Norwegian Deputy Foreign Minister Hans Engen, with six other small nations as cosponsors, may come to a vote Wednesday night or Thursday. It asks Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to make arrangements which would permit the withdrawal of American troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan.

Engen predicted Assembly approval. One Asian diplomat forecast passage with 56 favorable votes and some abstentions in the 31-nation Assembly. But some Arab and Soviet sources expressed belief it would fail to get the necessary two thirds of those voting.

India opposed the resolution because it did not demand immediate U.S.-British troop withdrawals and because it would lay the groundwork for sending more U.N. troops to the Middle East.

Iraq also found the resolution unacceptable, and Yugoslavia disliked it.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said the resolution must

$4,000-Theft In Lisbon Reported Money Kept In Cigar Box In Hotel Room

LISBON — Pete Mikich, an employee and resident of the Lisbon Hotel, reported to village police at 10 p. m. Monday that some one entered his upstairs room and stole $4,000 out of a cigar box in a cupboard.

He said he was working as a clerk and bartender on the first floor of the hotel when the theft occurred.

Mikich said the money consisted of $5, $10 and $20 bills which he used to cash checks.

A cigar box containing $1 bills and another holding wrapped coins were not touched, he said.

Police found no evidence of forced entry. Mikich said he had locked the door of the room. The cupboard doors were broken into, police said.

Mikich said the theft occurred between 5 and 10 p. m.

The stolen money consisted of his savings and hotel funds.

Senators Rap Eisenhower, White

Southern Democrats Receive Two Setbacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern Democratic senators licked their wounds today after two setbacks on the civil rights battleground.

They lost a seven-month fight Monday night when the Senate confirmed W. Wilson White, a Philadelphia lawyer, as assistant attorney general in charge of civil rights. The vote was 56-20.

The Southerners have opposed White since his nomination last January. But the debate Monday night was all the hotter because it followed news that the federal appeals court in St. Louis had overruled a district judge and ordered resumption of racial integration this fall at Little Rock Central High School.

Reaction to the appeals court decision was hot. Southern senators rushed out with statements denouncing it as "judicial tyranny" and describing it as tragic.

Some of the sharpest language of the fast-fading session of Congress was used in the debate against White and against President Eisenhower's use of troops last year to enforce court-ordered school integration at Little Rock.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) likened use of federal troops

Woman, Two Young Sons Are Killed By Two-Ton Boulders

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A woman and her two young sons were killed Monday by two-ton boulders from a dump truck that hurtled down a hill. The truck driver also died.

The woman's husband and daughter were injured. Both were reported in fair condition at a hospital.

One boulder smashed the automobile of Harry Jacobs, 31. Two others crushed his wife Estelle, 31. She was thrown from the car when it was struck by the truck, police said.

It was not determined what went wrong with the truck. There were indications the driver had attempted to apply his brakes.

The truck came off the auto, then skidded on its side and jammed between a telephone pole and an iron utility pole. Albert Stone, 40, of Carthage, died in the smashed car.

Jacobs, his two sons, Robert, 6, and Scott, 1, and his daughter, Ronnie, 4, were trapped in the car. Rescuers used cranes and jacks to free them.

Ruling of District Judge Is Set Aside; Southerners Rage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Resumption of integration at Little Rock's Central High School was ordered Monday by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus promptly moved to fight it, possibly through a special legislative session.

The court, in a 6-1 decision, set aside a ruling of U.S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., which would have provided a 2½-year "breathing spell" after a tense year of troop-enforced integration at the school.

At Little Rock, Faubus met behind closed doors with advisers. He had nothing to say publicly, but talk of a special legislative session mounted.

An administration source said Faubus probably would have the state legislators in Little Rock by a week from Wednesday.

The appeals court decision came just 16 days before school is scheduled to reopen at Central High.

Little Rock School Supt. Virgil Blossom said the school board would make an all-out fight to prevent seven Negro students from re-entering Central.

But an attorney for the school board, Richard C. Butler, said he did not know whether an appeal could be considered by the U.S. Supreme Court before the Sept. 2 opening of school. The high court is in recess until Oct. 6.

Southerners Attack Decision
In Congress, Southerners bitterly attacked the decision.

"It is rather tragic that the Circuit Court of Appeals has wholly disregarded the welfare of both races and the will of the people," said Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) said it appeared that "judicial tyranny in this country is running rampant over local self-government."

Among supporters of civil rights, Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.) said he hoped Little Rock citizens would actively support authorities in carrying out integration. Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) said the decision "points up more than ever the need for the President to announce to the country what his policy is going to be on enforcing the law of the land in Little Rock and everywhere else."

Registration Set Thursday for New High School Pupils

All students who will enter the sophomore, junior or senior high school classes this fall and who moved to Salem this summer are requested to register at the principal's office on the third floor of the old high school building Thursday morning.

Bernard G. Ludwig, principal, said the new students will receive information pertaining to their schedule, subjects and other school-related matters.

Newcomers who register Thursday, instead of waiting until school starts, will receive more attention, because of the rush and commotion on opening day, Mr. Ludwig explained.

Mr. Ludwig said that group meetings for the remainder of the sophomores, juniors and seniors are scheduled at the new high school next week, the days to be announced.

The students will receive assistance on school matters and information about and diagrams of the new high school building, he said.

Vice president Fred Johnson and Mrs. Roy Archibald were the only two members present, along with Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, and Mrs. Edna L. Glauser, clerk.

Triton to Serve as Warning Station

Giant Atom Submarine Poised for Launching

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover said today that the giant atomic submarine Triton will show the way for building big capital ships to travel under the seas.

His prediction was contained in a congratulatory message sent the builders of the Triton, which was poised for ceremonial launching today.

The monster sub is the largest ever built. Officially listed at 5,900 tons, it will displace almost 8,000 tons when fully equipped and ready for trials early next year.

It will serve primarily as a floating and submerging distant warning station to sound alarm of approaching enemy planes or cruise-type missiles.

Rickover, called by many the father of nuclear submarines, said several days ago he would be unable to attend the launching ceremony because of the pressure of his work. There was a flurry of criticism from some congressional members, who believed that the controversial Rickover hadn't been invited.

But the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., builders of the Triton, said invitations to Rickover and his wife were mailed.

The Triton will be the first submarine to be powered with two atomic engines. They are being built by the Knolls Laboratory of General Electric.

The high shaft horsepower developed by each of the reactors is substantially above that for reactors in any present atomic submarine.

The reactors use a fuel element shaped like twisted ribbon. Other features include a method for loading new fuel into the reactors without extensive removal of equipment—which company ex-

Tito Asks More U.S. Assistance Seeks $250 Million For Industrial Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Yugoslavia is asking for additional American economic aid to projects that were to have been paid for out of loans from the Soviets.

The Soviets canceled some 285 million dollars in promised loans last May in a crackdown move against Yugoslav President Tito, who follows a course independent of Moscow control.

Officials said Monday night the Yugoslav government has turned to the United States with a petition for 250 million dollars to pay for construction of new power stations and fertilizer plants, railroad modernization and some highway equipment.

State Department officials were reported to be looking with favor on the loan request amid indications some money would be turned over shortly to the Yugoslavs.

The officials were said to be taking the view that Yugoslavia must be bolstered to help the country continue its course of independent communism.

During the year which ended June 30 the United States supplied Yugoslavia with 103 million do-

Band Still Needs $1,800 to Make Trip

About $1,800 remains to be raised this week for the Quaker City Band Fund before the band embarks on its five-day trip to Chicago, Friday, Aug. 29.

Norman Eckfeld, band president, announced at a committee meeting Monday afternoon that the fund contains $3,309.39. More than $1,800 has been contributed toward the trip since the committee conducted a house-to-house canvass Aug. 6.

Some businesses and industries are still to be contacted by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce or Retail Merchants Association.

R. S. McCulloch Sr., chairman of the band fund committee, said that local manufacturers have decided not to contribute to the fund as one group, but instead are making individual contributions.

Meanwhile, the band is continuing to polish up their marching maneuvers and selections which will be used at the American Legion convention to defend the band's national title won last year at Atlantic City, N.J.

The band will practice tomorrow night and will hold three practice sessions next week.

Events Leading Away From a Crime

The death of labor reform in the dying 85th Congress is starting a novel kind of detective work.

Events leading up to the crime are of no interest. But events leading away from the crime are fascinating.

No one is surprised, because labor reform was attacked with intent to kill, because everyone expected it to be killed. But there is a special reason for interest in the future behavior of the killer.

Whereby will hang the proverbial tale.

The Democrats accuse the National Association of Manufacturers, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and other business interests, which attacked the labor reform bill because they discovered it would reform management as well as labor. They didn't want that.

The Republicans accuse Democratic Speaker Rayburn of the House and Democratic majorities in the House and Senate, which failed to stand fast for labor reform and even gave the appearance of knuckling under to dictation by business and management lobbyists.

There is still another accusation that so far has been made only in the minds of citizens who mistrust partisan viewpoints.

It is the accusation that labor reform in the 85th Congress is the victim of irreconcilability — the thing that can kill popular government in the United States, unless the people scotch it to death first.

Disclosures of the McClellan committee have made it clear there have been outrageous abuses of organized labor's privileges and intolerable collusion between corrupt union leaders and corrupt managers to cheat working people.

The U.S. public has been impressed by Sen. McClellan's sonorous chastisement of wrong-doers. But it has been distressed by the futility of a performance that sees wrong-doers thriving and prospering while being called names in Congress.

The public cannot be blamed for an impression it is at the mercy of legislators, administrators and judges who have lost their ability to thing and act independently of powerful minorities in conflict with public welfare in this country.

Labor reform is dead as far as the 85th Congress is concerned. The murderer was not one party, or another — not one faction or another faction—but the irreconcilability of all men who would rather see the country go to the dogs than yield enough to reach an understanding.

When Congress Packs the Suitcase

Every congressional session is the same at the end.

There is frantic haste to make up all of the time that has been frittered away, causing onlookers to wonder why so many things were put off until the last minute.

It is exactly like packing a suitcase before leaving on a trip.

The trip has been planned days and weeks in advance. The suitcase has been available for packing for days and weeks. But no one ever does it that way.

Some things cannot be put in until the last minute. Other things aren't ready to be put in. Still other things are "provisional." They will be put in if there's room, left out if the suitcase threatens to be too full.

For example, Congress never was sure it wanted to include a farm bill, because the best rule is to do nothing when in doubt. It was positive, on the other hand, that it would hem and haw, hedge and haggle, then put in a foreign bill, regardless of what might be left out.

It would stall and fume about military reorganization before stuffing it into a corner under the odd millions of a plus-39-billion-dollar defense bill. It never did have any real intention of passing a union reform bill and only a nominal interest in clipping the authority of the Supreme Court over disputed interpretations of the law. These things were laid out on the bed for show.

In suitcase — packing there is a rule that never fails.

A man never forgets his shaving equipment, because he has it on his mind. A woman never forgets her "beauty" aids for the same reason.

Out having packed enough money to pay the legislative suitcase and start home without having packed enough money to pay congressional salaries. It might forget a harbor improvement in Lower Catfish Bay, but it never forgets to pass the congressional payroll.

Every Man His Own Diplomat

If you had been President Eisenhower's special envoy to patch up a blowout in the Middle East and the president of Egypt had stood you up all day, what would you have done?

The answer is a short course in the diplomatic problem confronting the United States.

One answer, probably the one that would be most common, is that you would have stalked away from President Nasser's coldly calculated insult.

The other answer, probably the one that is of great significance because Robert Murphy, President Eisenhower's special envoy used it, is that you would refuse to accept the insult because too much was at stake.

You would have waited out the anger of the president of Egypt, in the hope that when he had finished insulting you he would be willing to talk with you, as Nasser did talk to Murphy for four hours.

This was the longest talk any American has had with the most dynamic personality in the Middle East since Secretary of State

Dulles signed him off abruptly in the midst of negotiations for U.S. aid in building the Aswan dam.

It was the longest talk President Nasser has had since he talked with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia just before U.S. and British troops landed in Lebanon and Jordan. It is as long a talk as he had with Nikita Khrushchev.

It seems to signify that Gamel Nasser can be talked to if there is a desire for conversation, and his long conversation with Mr. Murphy, after his still longer insult to the United States, raises a pointed question about U.S. policy in the Middle East.

Is it now reflecting the state of mind that would have caused Mr. Murphy to stalk away, or is it reflecting the state of mind that caused him to hang on until President Nasser was ready to talk?

Has there been, in other words, an about-face, which would amount to putting Mr. Murphy's attitude ahead of Mr. Dulles' attitude?

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The average man is having a tough time understanding why anybody wants to fire a rocket to the moon. He feels the world is having trouble enough without taking on the lunar region.

"The moon is one of the few friendly places we've got left," said Mortimer Topblower today. "So why start shooting at it. De we want to drive it into Khrushchev's arms and force it to unite in a Nasser Fair-Play-to-Moon League?"

We reminded Mortimer that it was all being done in the interest of scientific research, it being important to find out what happens inside the moon's gravitational pull.

"Gravitational pull my eye! We're just getting too nosy for our own good," shouted Topblower.

Experts say the U.S. rocket could become a permanent satellite of the moon, orbiting around it forever. This made him extra sore.

"Anything monkeying around the moon for a weekend is disturbing enough, let alone centuries," Topblower went on.

"I take my moons straight, onclutted and with no outside interference. I want it operating strictly on its own with Cape Canaveral giving it no trouble."

MR. TOPBLOWER possibly is right. The effect on romance, for instance, is of importance. The young are especially upset. The boy and girl on the beach on a moonlit night feel kindly to moon, and petitions to Washington to let alone are pposable.

The man in the moon wearing a very troubled expression and tying desperately to shoo away ockets can be too busy to pay attention to young loves.

What gal in a boy friend's arms under a full moon is going to murmur, "How lovely Cape Canaveral's target looks tonight!" or

"NO GOOD CAN COME of rocket to moon. Even if we show our intentions are good, it will involve us in costly aid-to-moon projects, with a Federal Moon Development Administration (FMDA)."

This policy has got us nowhere so far. Do we want the moon sore at us, too?

The American Way of Life

Reciprocal Illusions

By RAYMOND MOLEY

After what seemed to be interminable and unnecessary wrangling, Congress has passed, in a compromise form, the reciprocal trade extension demanded by the President.

The President's anxiety about this measure seems to be based upon a belief that with plenty of trade-concession carrots he can induce foreign donkeys to move in the direction he thinks wise for them and for us.

I doubt whether all the psychological warriors on the government payroll at home and abroad can estimate with any precision what is gained by gratuities of this sort or by gifts in hard cash. It is difficult to argue a matter of psychology, no matter which side we take.

The fact is that reciprocal tariff arrangements have been based largely upon subjective considerations from the time, early in the Roosevelt - Hoover campaign of 1922, when they became a national issue.

WELL BEFORE Roosevelt was nominated in the spring of that year, the vital political question arose as to how the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act could be attacked with out leading the way to a counter charge that the Democratic candidate was going to open the gates to foreign competition at the expense of American industry and labor.

What seemed a happy and harmless political solution would be to advocate reciprocal tariffmaking which was comfortably explained as good old Yankee trading applied to the international scene.

Politically, it was great stuff because it had been a Republican secretary of state, Blaine, who sparked the idea and President McKinley had endorsed it in 1901.

Later, after Roosevelt was nominated, his Republican opponents began to bombard him with embarrassing questions at almost every whistle stop. "Do you intend to reduce the tariffs on this or that" — specifying articles of great concern to the immediate local economy.

This barrage got to be uncomfortable. And so the Democratic candidate began to hedge. Sen.

Cordell Hull's suggestions were lost in the preparation of the candidate's speech on the subject, which was prepared in large part by two protectionist senators, Walsh of Montana and Pittman of Nevada.

Thereupon Hull, deeply hurt, went into almost complete silence. Afterward, F.D.R. specifically promised not to reduce tariffs on farm products and, later, on industrial items. That is the way the campaign ended.

AS THE ROOSEVELT administration got underway, the President was convinced not only by conservatives but by national planners like Tugwell that the United States must keep itself free to plan its recovery without opening its gates to foreign influences.

Hull, momentarily comforted by a reference to reciprocal trade in the Roosevelt inaugural speech and plenty of soft talk by the President, was thrown into depression by the President's refusal to ask for a reciprocal bill in 1933.

Only later, in 1934, was such a bill passed, but even then it was hinged with all sorts of provisions. But treaties were made, and the free traders assured the public that with this instrument we would not only quicken the economic life of the world, but bring about universal peace and brotherhood.

None of these pieces of pie in the sky materialized on the place. Foreign trade barely increased at all in the years before the war, and foreign nations found countless ways of protection other than tariffs.

As we now know, tariffs are a relatively outworn way to regulate trade. There are quotas, exchange restrictions and many other more immediate tricks.

Hence the present renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Act, while hailed as a great weapon in the cold war, is not so important in the actual channels of trade.

What has really happened is that Congress, happy to escape the pulling and hauling to which tariffmaking in the past has subjected it, has passed the job over to the President.

Perhaps that is a better way. And if there is any psychological gain, we certainly need it.

Tennessee Holds Line

By DAVID LAWRENCE

People Against Integration In Schools

The people of Tennessee — like the people of Arkansas — have just expressed themselves against "integration" of the races on public schools.

Contrary to the erroneous impression derived from first news reports of the four-cornered contests for governor of Tennessee, an analysis of the final figures shows that 61.5 per cent of the votes in the Democratic primary were cast for the so-called "segregationist" candidates.

There was no candidate for governor in the Republican primary, so the Democratic primary result is equivalent to election.

The two leading candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial contest were outspoken against "integration." The other two were called "moderates" but actually they declared in the campaign that they did not favor racial mixing.

The winner of the primary — Buford Ellington — polled 213,189 votes. The runner-up — Judge Andrew Taylor — received 204,367. This means a total of 417,556 for the "segregationists" as against the 260,907 polled by the other two candidates combined.

Thus Tennessee voted about 61.5 per cent in favor of the out-and-out "segregationist" candidates as compared with Arkansas' 70 per cent for the same classification.

WHAT PROBABLY led to a widespread misinterpretation that Tennessee had deviated from the pattern in Arkansas was the emphasis in the first news reports on the renomination of Sen. Albert Gore in the Democratic primary. This was natural, because he did not sign the "Southern Manifesto" three years ago and has been called a "moderate."

But it is significant that he told the voters this time that he would "vigorously oppose" any attempt to "force our children into unwanted social mixing." It is, of course, the governor of a state — rather than a United States senator—who has the responsibility for making state policy and for administering state laws governing the schools.

Buford Ellington, the next governor — who had the backing of retiring Gov. Frank Clement — has promised to close any public school where there is a serious controversy over court-ordered integration.

He campaigned as "an old-fashioned segregationist and a states' rights' fighter."

He has said that he will, if necessary, strengthen Tennessee's laws which are aimed at getting around the Supreme Court rulings of 1954. Mr. Ellington in his campaign said he was "no fence straddler" and is definitely "opposed to integration."

Judge Taylor, who was the runner up in the race, based his campaign on the proposal that the governor "should have the power and authority to close a school in the event federal troops marched into Tennessee to enforce the integration decree."

He also declared that the governor should have power to keep the schools closed "as long as troops remain in the state to enforce such a decree."

What the Tennessee and Arkansas elections show is that a majority of the people in each state do not accept the idea that the Supreme Court has said the last word. New state laws with difference in the courts.

ent the methods of dealing with the school problem are yet to be tested in the courts.

THE VOTERS, to be sure, do not read a lot of legalistic documents before they cast their ballots but they do listen to the speakers who repeatedly quote the words of the 10th Amendment in the Bill of Rights which specifically declares that all powers not delegated to the federal government by the constitution are reserved to the states or to the people.

Nowhere in the Constitution is the word "education" mentioned as a power delegated to the federal government.

The people of Tennessee and Arkansas, therefore, feel that the obligation of each state is to give every child an "equal" education irrespective of race or color.

They do not accept the psychological doctrines of the Supreme Court that no Negro child can get an equal education unless he or she sits alongside of a white child in a classroom.

The Southerners regard the schools as a social institution subject to local customs. He is against the mixing of the races in the schools or in marriage.

Incidentally, the laws of the Southern states forbidding intermarriage of certain races have never been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States.

ALTHOUGH this correspondent was born and raised in the North, attended both an "integrated" grade school and high school and has no personal objection to "integration" in the public schools, he concedes that the legal facts of history are on the side of the South.

This is because the 14th Amendment, on which the Supreme Court based its "desegregation" decision of 1954 was never legally ratified.

The fact that the amendment was "adopted" only at the point of the bayonet in the state legislatures of the South, three years after the war between the States had ended, is undisputed by historians.

The Supreme Court, moreover, has for decades studiously avoided a decision on the legality of the "ratification" of the 14th Amendment.

The 10th Amendment, therefore, would seem to be controlling. Under its basic principle each state has the sovereign right to decide for itself which pupils shall be admitted to particular schools or classrooms.

Unkindest Cut of All

By TRUMAN TWILL

Gaah.

Just as though we don't have enough matters to keep our tempers fuming on a level with our parboiled anatomies, along comes a batch of "news releases" on the fall planting of grass.

The seed men who spend scads of money to hire publicists in hope of getting free advertising in the newspapers are sowing their propaganda again.

"Autumn is the time to get busy," the handouts confide. "Soils are more easily and safely tilled than in spring and are not soggy... Grass will have a head start; be established by spring, better able to withstand heat, drought and crabgrass."

Who's kidding whom? How naive do these free-loading word-monsters think we are?

Little do they know that the potential reader — at least in these parts — is sick, SICK of grass and everything that resembles grass.

Ordinarily, the seasonal life span of an average lawn would have run its course by this time. The grass would be a beautiful crunchy, golden brown, instead of a horrible, lush early-summer green.

Lawnmowers would be rusting quietly in a corner of the garage. To be dusted off only occasionally before the beginning of winter. Pop — and Mom, too — would be relaxing in their lawn chairs, thankful that the worst was over and that Junior no longer would have to be threatened to make him lend a hand with lawn maintenance.

Publicity hounds for grass-seed companies would be happy, because their words of advice would not be read by bloodshot eyes. By this time, most people actually would be hungry for tips on how to get the old sod back in condition.

But that's not the way it is this summer...

For months it has been a constant battle between man and nature to see who will be the first to throw in the towel.

"Gotta get home and cut the grass" is the disgusting reply every time someone suggests stopping off after work for a beer, a round of golf or a dip in the swimming hole.

Disgusting in some other ways, too.

Fertilizer people are going broke and growing hoarse trying to coax the public into buying their stuff. Lawnmowers are chugging to an early demise, and Pop is getting ulcers and an oversized paunch during the cutting chore that goes on and on and on.

Vacant lots are beginning to look like dumps, what with all the neighbors sneaking there in the dead of night to deposit lawn clippings.

It's especially tiresome and hopeless when a fellow has a numbskull neighbor who likes to trim his lawn. He must try to keep his property in the same condition as the one next door. Mustn't he?

It never has been figured what grass growth has amounted to this as the one next door. Mustn't he? It now. Probably up to here, though...

Gotta get home and cut the grass.

in Little Rock to Soviet representations in Hungary. There, he said, "armed force and bayonets were used to bend a people to the will of alien ideas, thereby forcing on them a new social structure."

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) accused White of having mixed politics with law and said "it is obvious that he promoted the use of troops and prejudiced his advice in this direction."

This was a reference to White's role in directing preparation of legal papers on which Eisenhower based his Little Rock troop action. At the time, White was an assistant attorney general serving as legal adviser to former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

Testifying earlier this year at a Judiciary Committee hearing on his nomination, White said troops were used as a last resort "to set down mass defiance" of a court decree.

Defending White, Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) recalled that the Senate twice before had confirmed him for other federal posts. Watkins said nothing has developed to change the Senate's past conclusion that White is qualified for positions of public trust.

In the end, 20 Democrats and 36 Republicans voted for White's confirmation. Republican Senators John J. Williams of Delaware and Milton R. Young of North Dakota joined 18 Democrats in opposition.

The new post to which White was named was set up under a civil rights bill passed a year ago — the first such law since Reconstruction days.

About 250 presidents and delegates from teacher groups in the various school districts of Ohio are attending a workshop at Camp Muskingum at Leesville Lake. The workshop got under way Monday.

Professional subjects and problems are being studied by the teachers associations' leaders prior to the opening of school next month. Both national and state leaders are briefing teachers on current developments with an attempt at explanation.

During the day there are two general sessions, each of which is followed by two one-hour discussion group periods. Such arrangement gives the individual delegates opportunity to attend four discussion groups a day.

Subjects of discussion are along the following lines: public relations, recently enacted laws and their application, school finance, orientation of new teachers, and developing personnel policies.

Salem teachers are represented at the workshop by their president, Frank L. Hoopes, and delegate Mrs. Mary Doyle.

Little Rock

Marion C. Matthes of St. Louis said the issue narrowed down to whether public resistance, including mob violence, was sufficient cause to nullify a federal court order directing the school board to carry out its plan for gradual integration of the Little Rock schools.

"We say the time has not yet come in these United States when an order of a federal court must be whittled away, watered down or shamefully withdrawn in the face of violent and unlawful acts."

Judge Matthes wrote. Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner of Huron, S.D., was the only dissenter. He said the school board had acted in good faith and that Judge Lemley's decision suspending integration had been based "on realities and conditions, rather than theories."

Judge Matthes emphasized the importance of the decision on integration of Southern schools. Allowing Lemley's order to stand, he said, would mean an open invitation for other school districts to resort to violence.

Judge Lemley suspended the integration plan last June 21. It was at the request of the school board. Blossom, a key witness, testified that it was impossible to conduct normal classes because of incidents.

Faubus called out the National Guard at the start of school to keep the nine Negro students from attending classes. They had been selected to begin what the school board called gradual integration.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies of Fargo, N.D., on a temporary assignment in Arkansas, ordered Faubus to withdraw the guard. When mob violence followed outside the school the next day, President Eisenhower sent federal troops to restore order and enforce the integration.

inadequate to deal with union abuses. Lightner also contended the bill would weaken safeguards in the Taft-Hartley Act.

There was no immediate comment by the others mentioned. The bill among other things would have required detailed reporting to the government of union finances. It also would have required secret balloting for union officers and would have limited their terms.

In commenting on the House action, Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said:

"The unholy alliance of the NAM, reactionary Republicans and (Teamster President) Jimmy Hoffa's gangster cohorts have done a great disservice to the American public and to the labor movement."

Similarly, President David McDonald of the Steelworkers Union and Joseph Beirne of the Communications Workers Union said business groups were mainly responsible in influencing defeat of the measure.

But Joseph Curran, Maritime Union president, said he was glad the bill died "because it was a hodgepodge."

The Rev. Richard D. Freseman officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Shone of 1020 E. 3rd St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stein of 190 W. Wilson St.

Floral bouquets, palms and ferns formed the altar decorations. Seven-branch candelabras completed the setting.

Miss Martha Stein was soloist at her brother's wedding. She sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Miss Ruth M. Hoch, organist.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floorlength gown of white satin, net and lace. The fitted bodice, trimmed with seed pearls, was styled with a round sheer neckline, and long sleeves. Lace appliques highlighted the full net skirt.

Her lace-trimmed skirt illusion veil fell from a ace hat trimmed with pearls. White carnations formed her cascade bridal bouquet. For something old, she wore the wedding ring which her grandmother received at her wedding 76 years ago this month. She was given in marriage by her father.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Kitty Purviance of Salem. Her ballerina-length gown of white eyelet over starlight blue taffeta was fashioned with a scoop neckline, puffed sleeves, bouffant skirt and taffeta cummerbund featuring a butterfly bow. Pearls and sequins adorned her matching blue crown. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations.

The flower girl, Gayle Suzanne Conley of Salem, appeared in a peach taffeta dress. It was designed with ruffles around the neck line and sleeves and an overskirt of tiered net. She carried a basket of assorted flowers.

Robert P. Shone served his brother as best man. Frank Henderson of Lisbon and Charles E. Christopher of Salem were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shone chose a dark brown sheath with matching jacket and white accessories. Mrs. Stein wore a sheath of ice blue lace over taffeta and white accessories. White carnation corsages completed their ensembles.

200 Attend Reception. The reception followed in the church social rooms, with 200 guests in attendance. A miniature bride and bridegroom in a heart-shaped wreath topped the three-tiered wedding cake. Two bouquets of carnations, candles and white wedding bells completed the table setting.

The Esther Circle of the church was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Gene Davis, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Norman Kanagy of Lisbon, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Leon Taylor of Columbiana registered the guests from Salem, Leontina, East Liverpool, Cleveland, Lisbon, Winona, Youngstown, Richmond, Buffalo, N. Y., Columbiana, Alliance, Damascus and Georgetown.

A 1957 graduate of Salem High School, the bride is employed in the traffic department of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Her husband attended Salem High School and is employed as a machinist by the Schell Tool and Die Co.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, Mrs. Stein wore a sheath of white lace over yellow taffeta, with white accessories. Upon their return, they will reside at 310 1st Ave., Apartment 6.

Gifts were presented to the attendants at the rehearsal party Saturday night.

Morgans, Mergatroids Cage Victors

Two of the three leading contenders for the Centennial Park summer basketball league crown both won easy victories Monday night. The Mergatroids toyed with Burriers in registering a 78-62 verdict while Chick Morgans scored at will in smothering the Tri-County All-Stars 78-22.

Starks' All-Stars won 2-0 on forfeit over the Carpeteers. Matt Klein hooped 26 for the Mergatroids while Jerry Binder had 20 and Jack Alexander 18. Weeps Williams with 20, Ed Doyle with 18 and George "Boom-Boom" Burrier with 10 were high for the losers.

The winners led 34-26 at the half. Morgans raced to a 30-12 intermission lead over Tri-County and then permitted their foes but 10 points during the last 20 minutes while scoring 48 of their own.

Wayne Palmer and Ron Edwards each had 20 for Mark Miller's outfit while Art Hawes had 14. Knight with eight and Hahlen and Hill with six each did the loser's scoring.

The Mergatroids and Morgans along with the Imperials, all of whom have lost but once, will hold a drawing tonight to determine the order of play needed to arrive at a summer champ.

One of the clubs will draw a bye. The one drawing a bye will play the winner between the other pair of quintets for the title.

The first playoff game will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday. The Mergatroids own a 46-44 win overtime win over Morgans while Morgans possess a 48-42 win over the Imperials. The Imperials beat the Mergatroids 48-46.

Pair of Amateurs Lead Way In Ohio Open Golf Tourney

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An amateur may win the Ohio Open golf title this year to duplicate the 1956 feat of Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus.

During Monday's 18 holes of opening play, amateurs turned in the two lowest scores of two under-par 69s to lead the field of 159 at Madden Park course.

Jack Zimmerman of Dayton had a 36-33 and Bob Shave Jr. of Cleveland a 34-35. Zimmerman racked up five birdies and three bogies while Shave had three birdies and one bogie on the 6,303-yard layout.

Both are runners-up for the state amateur championship. Zimmerman also is a former state public links champion and was a runner-up for the national public links championship.

Nicklaus himself turned in a 75 Monday.

At 70 are Gordon Waldenpohl, Dayton amateur, and Herman Keiser, former Masters champion, of Barborton. Three amateurs—Andy Augalis and Bob Benning of Dayton and Scott Robertson of Youngstown—along with Lee Raymond of Toledo, pro of but a few months standing, had par 71s.

Only amateur to shoot 72 was Bill Wheeler, former Dayton city champion. Professionals who made that score were E. W. Griffiths of Youngstown, defending champion; Jack Futurer of Lancaster, Jimmy Thompson of Columbia Station, Francis Marzoff of Columbus and Frank Rizak of Cambridge.

Another 18 holes will be played today, and then the field, which includes 85 amateurs, will be cut to the low 50 players and ties. They will play the final 36 holes Wednesday.

First round scores (With "x" denoting amateurs included): T. Lauriendo, Johnstown, 47-37-84.

R. Stefanik, Canton, 38-35-73.

x-T. Wagner, Middletown, 46-40-86.

McLish Named Rookies To Go To Terminate Tribe's Skid For Cleveland Against Lions

NEW YORK (AP)—Cal McLish (12-6) has been called on to stop Cleveland's three-game losing streak at the Yankee Stadium tonight. Whitey Ford (14-6) is the opposing pitcher for New York, which also has dropped three in a row.

Both teams have lost eight of their last 11 games and the two game series should be interesting. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel has his team angry because he held a special practice for the players Monday, their first day off at home in a month.

Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon says he plans to go all the way with Billy Moran at second base. The good-fielding, but weak-hitting Moran made three hits off Chicago White Sox star southpaw Billy Pierce Sunday and apparently impressed Gordon.

Gordon is puzzled by the Tribe's knack of losing one-run games. Their last four defeats have been by that margin. The Indians have dropped a dozen one-run games since Gordon became manager at the end of June.

"I think the answer is that we lack stability," he said. "If it's not one thing it's another. We lose one game because we don't get pitching and we lost another because we don't hit."

"The team with stability will win those close ones."

Dairy Queen, Friends and Stepanics Win

Dairy Queen defeated Jack's Bar 7-6 in nine innings, Friends Church blasted Bliss 10-1 and Stepaic's Tavern beat Bayard Grange 6-1 in softball action at Kelly Field Monday evening.

Dave Ehrhart's single scoring Joe Tucker from third in the ninth inning paved the way for Dairy Queen. Ehrhart won his own game in the process.

The winners lashed out 14 hits including four by Jim Barnes and three each by Wayne Hahn and Tucker. Dick Boughton had two raps for DQ.

Jacks got only five hits off Ehrhart including two by Joe Gaisor.

Jacks scored six times in the third but DQ evened it with two tallies in each of the third, fifth and sixth frames.

Ken Bruderly lost it.

Friends scored in every inning but the third in bombing Bliss, who committed nine bobbles.

L. B. Fletcher won over Bill Kysar.

Bliss had only three safeties. Dick Tolson had two hits for the winners while Murphy and Jim Welzeneker each scored three runs.

Glenn Mercer of Stepanics hurled a one-hitter as his green-shirted mates won over Bill Ehrhart of Bayard. Ehrhart allowed only four hits including two by Jim Beard.

Bayard led 1-0 in the second but the victors scored once in the third, four in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Baltimore Battling For Initial 1st Division Finish In History

By The Associated Press
Whether the New York Yankees can blow their American League lead is a question to be considered by guys who smoke stuff they don't sell at the supermarket. But can the Orioles give Baltimore its first finish in the first division?

The Birds, who have improved each year since their rebirth in 1954, finished just a game short of fourth-place Detroit last season. And after drubbing Kansas City 8-2 in the only major league game scheduled Monday, the Orioles now are within half a game of the fourth-place Tigers.

Even with an 11-game losing skid — longest slump in either league this season — the Orioles have spent most of their time in the first division in the last month. The slump tumbled them from second to sixth. They slipped past Cleveland into fifth by winning their third in a row Monday night.

Baltimore had only one hit—a third-inning bunt by Willie Miranda—but held a 1-1 tie with the A's until opening up against Ralph Terry (7-10) in a seven-run sixth inning. Gene Woodling socked a two-run homer and Dick Williams crashed a three-run shot.

Hec Brown (5-3) won it on a nine-hitter. Roger Maris scored against the Red Sox's Frank Sullivan (9-6).

The White Sox have won five in a row and 13 of their last 16. Detroit is at Washington, with George Susce (4-2) going for the Tigers against Camilo Pascual (6-7).

Baltimore has a chance to tie or pass Detroit for fourth place if it can sweep a two-night pair from the Athletics. It will be Arnie Portocarrero (12-7) and Jack Harshman (9-11) for the Birds against Ned Garver (10-8) and Bud Daley (2-2).

Second-place Chicago is at Boston in a "crucial" series for the runner-up spot. The White Sox will go with Dick Donovan (9-11)

Bucks, Spartans Loom Favorites In Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten football race, unpredictable at best, could turn into a hellcat scramble this year with at least seven teams fighting for the title. Ohio State's defending champions and Michigan State's Spartans will be the teams to beat. Iowa, Wisconsin and Purdue are expected to challenge strongly and Michigan and Illinois never can be counted out until the season ends.

For Minnesota, Indiana and Northwestern, it looks like another long season. Woody Hayes, Ohio State coach, promises the same bruising attack which has brought the Buckeyes three unbeaten titles in the last three years. Hayes plans to employ a powerful ground attack headed by fullback Bob White, fine line play and a great defense. Michigan State is set to challenge all comers for the national title. The Spartans are loaded but they may be in need in the quarterback slot vacated by Jim Niovski.

Iowa again will be tough. The Hawkeyes have quarterback Randy Duncan to pass. They also have good and speedy halfbacks, a fine line and an easy schedule.

Purdue is the team that could take it all — Big Ten title, Rose Bowl and possibly a national title. There are 26 lettermen returning at the Boilermaker campus. Purdue won five of its last six games in 1957, including a 20-13 upset triumph over Michigan State.

Wisconsin has a tough schedule but the Badgers are ready. They have a veteran team and 28 returning lettermen. The schedule includes Iowa, Ohio State and Michigan State in succession.

Purdue is the real dark horse. Most Big Ten coaches refer to the Boilermakers when there is talk of a title. "That's the team to watch out for," said Ray Eliot of Illinois. The Boilermakers have a tremendous line plus quarterbacks Bob Spoo and Ross Fichtner.

Michigan has to rebuild its line from tackle to tackle. The Wolverines are always tough and an unpredictable team as there is in the Western Conference. Fullback John Herstein is a strong prospect to lead Michigan to most of its triumphs.

Illinois could wind up with the best line in the country. The Illini, however, will be lacking their usual fleet of halfbacks and again are in trouble finding a capable quarterback.

Minnesota has only two regular backs from last year's team which was picked to finish near the top but wound up in eighth place. The Gophers must rely on newcomers and could progress as the season grows older.

Neither Indiana nor Northwestern won a conference game in 1957 and since neither of the two meet it could be the same story again. Help from newcomers is needed in both cases.

Jim Robinson Follows Watts At C. McKinley

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Canton Lehman's veteran coach is taking the Canton McKinley grid coaching assignment that has been in the spotlight of Ohio football for years.

Jim Robinson, 59, will succeed Wade Watts at McKinley. Watts announced his resignation Saturday for personal reasons. In his five years, he produced state champions twice, in 1955 and 1956. Robinson has been at Lehman since 1926. It became a senior high school in 1937 and since that time his teams have won 121, lost 51 and tied 9.

Herman (Bup) Rearick, McKinley's basketball coach, urged Robinson to take the appointment and offered to become a grid assistant. In turn, Robinson will help with basketball. Rearick had an eight-year term as football coach for McKinley, and never lost more than one game a year. At Lehman, the head coaching job will be taken over by an assistant, Chet Fair, who once played for Robinson as a schoolboy.

Brown-Ziegler Win 20-5 In Class 'G'

Brown-Ziegler got only seven hits, but helped with six errors, went on to roll over Team No. 8 by a 20-5 score in a single Class G contest played last night.

George Dickerson New UCLA Mentor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George Dickerson succeeds the late Henry (Red) Sanders as UCLA's head football coach.

The 45-year-old Dickerson, a UCLA alumnus, was Sander's first assistant and handled a great mass of detail for him, including liaison between student-athletes and faculty.

Sanders, eulogized at a memorial service Monday as "an authentic genius," died last Thursday of a heart attack. He was 53. Athletic Director Wilbur Johns, in announcing the appointment Monday, said Dickerson was hired on an interim basis and that his contract will extend for "more than one year." Exact tenure and the salary were not disclosed.

Now thousands of copies are being smuggled into France each week.

veloped from his encounter with a violent Italian.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (2)—Copernicus

Man's knowledge of the universe moved ahead with the years.

(1) Nicolaus Copernicus (1473-1543), of Poland, was repelled by the complicated, earth-centered Ptolemaic universe which had been accepted as truth for centuries. From his observations, Copernicus came to the conclusion that the Earth was just another planet, rotating on its axis and revolving about the Sun. The Sun, and not the Earth, was the center of the universe. Shortly after his death, the Inquisition clamped its grip on Europe.

(2) The Italian Giordano Bruno (1548?-1600)

was not an astronomer, but a philosopher. Herald of the modern age of science, he extended the Copernican system. He proclaimed that not only the Earth, but the Sun and all its planets were only a tiny part of the universe. For such heresy he was burned at the stake.

(3) Tycho Brahe (1546-1601) built the first observatory in the western world, on an island off his native Denmark. Brahe was a great observer and contributed much to astronomy. But he was never able to accept Copernicus' theories.

(4) Brahe's assistant, Johannes Kepler (1571-1630) of Austria, demolished the old Greek astronomy of perfect circular orbits for planets. His mathematics laid the groundwork for Newton's law of gravitation.

(5) The Italian Galileo Galilei (1564-1642) built the first astronomical telescope and was amazed when he turned it toward the Moon. He was the first man to see a heavenly body as it really was. And he declared that Copernicus was right—the Earth did indeed move about the Sun. But as an old man he was forced to recant his theories. It was for a later age to recognize his genius.

Next: Newton, Mechanic of the Universe.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Quick Action Needed in Blood Poisoning

Blood poisoning means an infection caused by germs which have invaded the blood stream.

The proper medical term is septicemia. Sometimes it is also called septic poisoning.

Many people have died from septicemia in the past who could now be saved with the help of the antibiotics or sulfa preparations.

Germs can get into the blood stream in many ways. They are present in the blood in many cases of spinal meningitis, pneumonia and other similar infections. They can penetrate to the blood stream through a cut or other injury in the skin.

A NAIL, a farm tool, an axe, or almost anything else which causes a break in the skin can carry germs to the blood. Most objects which are in contact with the air or ground have germs on them which are harmless to the unbroken skin, but which may be highly dangerous if they get into the blood stream.

Once the germs have reached the blood they may conquer its defenses rapidly and cause blood poisoning.

Streptococci are the most common and dangerous cause of blood poisoning. In this form of septicemia, the symptoms usually develop extremely suddenly, often with a feeling of great chilliness. The body temperature rises to a high level, and the pulse rate is rapid.

IN THE PAST, a high proportion of those who became infected died often within one to three days. Now both antibiotics and sulfa drugs have proved lifesaving for most who are stricken down with septicemia due to streptococci.

Another variety of blood poisoning, which until recently killed nearly everyone who got it, is caused by a different germ—the staphylococcus.

Staphylococci are present on even more things than the streptococci. When these germs are found in the blood stream prompt action is needed.

Today there is a great deal of concern about blood infections with other infections with staphylococci. These germs are hard to elimiate once they have entered an environment like a hospital.

FURTHERMORE, there are different strains of these germs, some of which respond to treatment with antibiotics and some of which do not. Thus, ever new problems keep arising to plague us.

Almost any germ can cause septicemia, or blood poisoning, but those mentioned are probably the most common. Several of the others also yield either to the sulfa drugs or to antibiotics.

Just because the chances of recovery are now so much better for a person struck down by blood poisoning, there is no excuse for carelessness. Accidents which break the skin and put the blood stream in contact with germs should receive proper treatment. This may help to prevent the blood stream infection.

After any such injury the first sign of chill or fever should be the signal for prompt action in finding the cause of the trouble and start appropriate treatment.
